CRAB ORCHARD.

Crops and gardens need rain very much in this vicinity.

The warm weather is bringing guests in to the Springs rapidly. The opening hop of the season is Tuesday night, 19th.

Mrs. Curry and son, of Harrodsburg, came up with John Brooks and spent a few days visiting his mother, who returned home Saturday. Miss and Mr. Powell and Mr. Jones, of Standard Vintners, are visiting the Misses McWhorter. Miss Dorcas Anderson, the beautiful daughter of Mr. Will Anderson, returned from Georgetown College to her home near Prochessville, Friday. Dr. W. J. Johnston is in Richmond on business. Dr. L. S. Burdette has moved from Bradlee to Crab Orchard and rented Mr. J. H. Carver's house. We now have six doctors in Crab Orchard.

Mayor John M. Brooks, of Mulheiser, with his wife and lady friends, composed a party at the Springs. Miss Bettie McFall, who spent the winter in Harrodsburg, is visiting her uncle, Mr. W. M. Stuart. Miss Wilde, who has been the guest of Miss Allie Moore for several weeks, returned to her home in Lancaster Saturday. Miss Lottie Billion attended the Linnetta hop Friday night. Mrs. Green, of Danville, who was en route to visit her father, Gen. Garrard, of Manchester, stopped over a few days with Mrs. J. E. Carson. Mrs. Charles Redd, Jr., is visiting friends at Livingston and Mr. Vernon. Rev. Townsend, of Louisville, preached interesting sermons at the Baptist church Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. J. W. James is in Cincinnati on business connected with his distillery. It is understood that Prof. Smith, of Ohio, will have charge of the public school here next term. We are glad to see Miss Lorena Hardin, who has been so seriously ill, able to ride out. Hope she will soon be restored to perfect health.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

Elder Joe Severance preached for Elder C. E. Powell, at Glasgow, Sunday.

The people of the United States have over $500,000,000 invested in church property.

Sunday-School Evangelist A. C. Hopkins will hold institutes as follows: Burlington, 17-20; Danville, 21-24; Junction City, 25-28; Parkland, 27-30.

The Southern Presbyterians lead every other denomination of the South in giving to foreign missions last month. The offerings were $12,794, an increase of $354 over May, 1893.

Elder Joseph Ballou had four additions to his church at Mt. Vernon Sunday. He has never failed, except on the May Sunday it snowed, to have additions at each appointment.

The first Sabbath school was instituted in 1787. There are now in the United States 108,339 Sabbath schools, with 8,649,000 scholars. The world has 20,078,595 Sabbath-school scholars.

The 14th and Jefferson-street Christian church, Louisville, which will dedicate its new house of worship next Sunday, was organized in March, 1865. Rev. E. L. Powell will preach there Sunday.

The recent Central Methodist Conference at Allahabad, India, reported 55,148 full members and probationers, 18,737 baptisms during the year, 72,120 Christians, 1,394 Sunday schools, 70,855 scholars and 2,893 agents of all kinds.

Down in Texas the other day Sam Jones asked the men in his congregation who could have thrown a stone at the accented woman that Christ told to go and sin no more, to stand up. After awhile 14 arose on their pastern joints and while they yet stood, he said: "Now I want every man and woman in this vast audience to get down on their knees and help me pray for 14 of the biggest liars in the State of Texas."

"God save the Queen" is sung in 20 languages.

The greatest fish eaters in the world are the Japanese.

Russia produces 112,000 barrels of petroleum daily.

It is estimated that one out of every 150 inhabitants of the U. S. owns or rides a bicycle.

Victoria, the performing lioness in Wombwell's menagerie, New York, has given birth to four baby lions. The mother and youngsters are all doing well.

The brass baggage-check is fast disappearing. At a meeting of the general baggage agents held in St. Louis last week, a resolution that card checks were preferable was adopted.

A MILITON FRIEND.

A friend in need is a friend indeed, and not less than one million have found just such a friend in Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. If you have never used this great Cough Medicine, one trial will convince you that it has wonderful curative powers in all diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs. Each bottle is guaranteed to do all that is claimed or money will be refunded. Trial bottles free at A. R. Penny's drug store. Large bottles 50c and $1.

I have two little grand children who are teething this hot summer weather and are troubled with bowel complaint. I give them Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and it acts like a charm. I earnestly recommend it for children with bowel troubles. I was myself taken with a severe attack of bloody flux, with cramps and pains in my stomach, one-third of a bottle of this remedy cured me. Within 24 hours I was out of bed and doing my house work. Mrs. W. L. Duncan, Hockley, Hickman Co., Tenn. For sale by Dr. S. G. Stocker, Druggist, Stanford.

LIBERTY, CASEY COUNTY.

Flinchum Discharged for the Killing of Watkins.

—Mr. Ray S. Bensley requested us to state that there would be a fair held at Liberty this year, but as he is absent at this time, and we understand the affair has not been fully organized yet, we can not give full particulars until we have further information.

—Mr. Noah Snow, living near Neely's Gap, called on us the other day requesting us to correct a statement made in our correspondence of June 8th in regard to the reported assault on Mr. Flinchum, the postman, on the R. R. Park the Saturday previous. He stated that he and his uncle John Reed, in company with S. T. Woodson, were riding down the Bradleeville pike at the time stated when they overtook the postman, Flinchum; that Woodson stopped and wanted to buy a suit of clothes from the postman, while he and his uncle, John Reed, passed on to their destination below; that they had nothing to do with the mistreatment of Mr. Flinchum, and that they were not even in hearing, when the pistol shot was fired. He also states that no writ was issued against him and his uncle but they were only summoned as witnesses in the case. We make this correction in exonerating Mr. Snow and his relative from blame with the greatest of pleasure, as we believe his version of the affair, it being as far as we have inspired corroborated by some of his neighbors before Mr. Snow called upon us. We always when we have done parties injustice by wrongly informed reports take more pleasure in correcting them than in writing unpleasant things. We did not get the account directly from Flinchum but got it the best we could second hand. It is possible that Mr. W. head was much disturbed and somewhat mixed and failed to give a clear statement of everything. It is also stated that Flinchum's hat was not on his head when the pistol bullet was put through it, but was picked up off the ground and held in Woodson's hand when he shot through it.

—Great interest was taken in the examining trial of Frank Flinchum before Judge Myers Friday for the killing of Al Watkins.

Wolford Sward was the first witness sworn for the State. He stated that Al Watkins passed his house between 5 and 6 o'clock last Tuesday morning. Having heard that Watkins was going to kill Flinchum, he quit his work and kept in sight of him. Saw Watkins stop before Flinchum's house, was 200 yards away at the time. It was some little bit before he saw the defendant appear at his door, and also saw his gun flash, and Watkins all from his horse. Two shots were fired. As he approached the fallen body John Frederick was the only one there before him. Saw Frederick stoop down and pick up something and put in his right pocket. Frederick said, "You need not search him, he has no weapons." He felt something hard under his clothes on his breast.

John Frederick testified that he was Watkins' brother in law. Lived 200 yards from Flinchum's. Bettie West, standing in his door, told him that the deceased had ridden up to Flinchum's door. At the shot, she jumped back exclaiming, "Lord a mercy." He went immediately to Watkins and picked up his keys, rule, and penknife lying on the ground. Melvin Frederick, another brother-in-law, testified that he was sent the night before by Watkins to Flinchum's house as Watkins wanted to see him. Flinchum refused to go for the reason that he learned that Watkins had made threats against him. He told Flinchum that he did not blame him for not going, if Watkins had threatened him. When he returned and told Watkins that Flinchum had learned that he had made threats against him, he said it was a lie. Was at Watkins' the next morning when he left. He gave to the witness his pistol and coat and remarked, "May be Frank will not be afraid of me."

Betty West, who was at John Frederick's, stated that she was standing in the door and saw Watkins ride up facing Flinchum's house, and told John Frederick, who replied that Al had come to kill Mr. Flinchum. Watkins had his right hand by his side, could see Watkins, but could not see Flinchum. Two shots were fired.

The defendant testified. "I am 38 years old, have a wife and 8 children, have known Watkins five years. I saw Wm. Peairs at Kings Mountain on Saturday, and he told me that Watkins had shot him, and for me to watch him, for he had made threats against me; that Watkins had said three or four more men had to die. John Estes on Sunday told me the same. When Frederick came after me and told me that Watkins wanted to see me, I replied that I was afraid to risk him and would not go. He said that if he was me he would not go. After Frederick left, I sent and got a gun for self defense. I was in bed Tuesday morning when my little girl came in and told me that Watkins wanted to see me. I got up and told him I did not want to see him, that I was afraid of him. I knew he had a reputation as a dangerous man. His brother-in-law told me that if he did that it would be the fourth man that he had killed."

Several witnesses testified about Watkins making threats against three or four men, in which Flinchum was included, either by implication or name. It appeared from some of the evidence that there was a letter in Watkins' possession, said to have been written by Flinchum, concerning him with Watkins' domestic troubles, which upon investigation the court held to be a forgery. Flinchum's hand had to be identified as such. Several witnesses were introduced in regard to Watkins' reputation, the burden of which was that he was a remarkably clever man to his friends or those who did not cross him, but very dangerous when aroused from any real or imaginary bad treatment. While a number of witnesses testified on each side, many were not examined. After conclusion of the evidence, Rayle Stone made the opening speech for the defense clearly defining the law and reviewing the evidence. W. A. Morrow followed in behalf of the prosecution, commenting on the law in the case and citing decisions of the court of appeals applicable. He then dwelt on the evidence, giving some scorching criticisms on part of it. Geo. E. Stone followed with a strong plea for the right of self defense, stated the law and elaborated one of the cases cited by Mr. Morrow, and concluded by making strong points on Watkins' reputation as a dangerous man. County Attorney Godbey closed with a short but neat speech urging the necessity of enforcing the law. The judge after a brief summary of the proof, decided that there was not sufficient evidence to hold the defendant and he was acquitted.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Bunk Matsuki, a Japanese, and Miss Meowon, of Salem, Mass., were married last week.

—Mr. Morgan Chinn, second son of Col. Jack Chinn, was wedded to Miss Annie Cardwell, daughter of ex-Mayor Cardwell, of Harrodsburg, Thursday.

—Grant Bann, of Woodstock, O., shot and instantly killed Millie Zimmerman, his sweetheart. Bann claims that the killing was accidental, but others say it was not.

—George B. Maxey, aged 20, and Miss Martha H. Snow, just sweet 16, both of the South Fork section, obtained license Saturday and will be married at McKinney to-morrow.

—Miss David Chenault, one of the belles of the Bluegrass, was married to Col. J. C. Batchelor, secretary of State, of North Carolina, at Lexington. Her gown was white moire, trimmed with seed pearls and duchess lace.

—Rev. R. W. Bellamy, a Methodist preacher in Tennessee, married Miss Jennie Allen, of Columbus, Ga., who answered his advertisement for a wife and came to his home to be legally joined. They had never seen each other before the morning of the nuptials.

—Mr. Aitchison Alexander Bowmar of the Versailles Sun, and Miss Mary Chenault were married Thursday at the suburban home of Dr. R. C. Chenault, at Glenview, Jefferson county. In following his brother Dan's example he has done the proper thing and we heartily congratulate him.

—The latest superstition is that if a girl takes the small bow which fastens the lining of a man's hat, and wears it inside her shoe, she will have a proposal from the youth within a month. The success of the scheme may be open to question, but it is proving very destructive to hats.

—Nellie Grant Sartoris, daughter of Gen. U. S. Grant, whose unhappy marriage to an Englishman gave her and her friends so much trouble, is to try the marital lottery again, this time with Adjutant General Douglas, of Maryland, who is an ex-Confederate soldier. It is hoped that she will find in this marriage the happiness for which she sighed in vain in her last. She now has a daughter 17-years-old.

—Next Monday will be county court day.

—Messrs. Charley Norris and Clay Hamilton have opened a line of furniture in the room next to the post-office.

—The rooms had full away Saturday. They had a big parade in the forenoon and picnic and game of ball after dinner. The Stanford team beat the Lancasters about three or four scores.

—The court of appeals has overruled the motion for a new hearing in the contested election case of Bronckus against Mason, and Mason will hold the position of clerk of the circuit court for the full term. "Keg" is a gentleman, a good clerk, kind and attentive to lawyers and litigants and popular with the people generally. He belongs to one of the best families in the county and "has just cause to be proud of his ancestry."

—Judge Hemphill and family and Mrs. Tuttle spent Sunday in Crab Orchard. Rev. C. M. Reid leaves for his western home this week. Miss Owsley, of Burkesville, is the guest of her cousin, Miss Ellen G. Owsley. Rev. E. R. West, Washington City, is here on a visit to his parents. Misses Lydia and May Frank are visiting Miss Margaret Mason. Miss Mertie Wilds has returned from a visit to Stanford. Miss Allie Wallser, of Kirksville, is the guest of Mrs. Clifton Anderson.

PARSON JIM—From the class of 1881, there graduated a fellow known as "Parson" Jim Saunders, a title which was probably given him because he roomed with Old Crenshaw, himself a fit subject for the operation of the spirit under any all circumstances. It is impossible for Jim to have been as wicked as "Cren," and so they called the former "Parson" just for the sake of contrast. When those two boys left college they left behind them here many warm friends who have watched with interest their careers in life. "Cren" is somewhere in Virginia, not a 100 miles from where Tate Irvine has won a seat in the Legislature of the mother State, while "Parson Jim" was climbing up the ladder of fame with equal progress, and sat in the late Legislature of his native State—Kentucky—one of its brightest and most useful members. The choice of an orator to address the alumni of the University luckily fell upon Mr. Saunders this year and it was the pleasure of those old friends of other days to gather in the University Chapel on Monday night and listen to one of the very best addresses that has ever been delivered there upon a similar occasion. It was enough the style of the true college orator toned down by contact with the generality of audiences met with in public life to give constant interest to the discourse. Not only that but his excellent subject matter and free delivery compelled the admiration of the audience and held its undivided attention during the entire discourse.—Richmond Register.

Another lynching occurred this week, making 53 this year. It is true, as some urge, that lynching does not stop crime, but, but we have noticed that the same friend does not have to be lynched more than once.—A New Jersey telephone girl died from eating two quarts of cherries and a quart of peanuts. Somebody should have given her a few points on eating and posted the gallon her danger.—From Charley Meacham's "Copywrited" column in Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

ASHLAND, Wis.—The famous retreat in northern Wisconsin located on the Wisconsin Central Lines at the head of the Chequamegon Bay is a most desirable spot for one to spend a summer outing, surrounded as it is by the beautiful Apostle Islands. Little need be said of its scenic beauty and health giving qualities. This place should not be overlooked by those figuring on a resort for their next summer's vacation. The tourist will find excellent fishing and boating at this point, and good hotel accommodations at very reasonable rates. For further particulars, maps, time tables, and guide books apply to Jas. C. Pond, Genl. Pass. Agt., Milwaukee, Wis.

Many of the citizens of Painesville, Ind., never without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house," says Jacob Brown, the leading merchant of the place. "This remedy has proven of so much value for colds, croup and whooping cough in children, that few mothers who know its worth are willing to be without it. For sale by Dr. S. G. Stocker, Druggist, Stanford.

The races will begin on a splendid half mile track.

The gullible farmers in the benighted county of Madison are being victimized by sharpers who claim to be State officers empowered to compel vaccination. They scratch the arms of all the family, touch it with a quill of harmless paste, instead of virus, and tax the unsuspecting 50 cents ahead. It will be a long time before it can be chronicled that all the fools are dead.
RUNAWAYS.—Mr. R. R. Gentry's Texas pony ran off with him while returning from Taylor's distillery the other afternoon, throwing him out of his buggy and badly bruising him about the body and face. Mr. J. T. O'Hair's horse became frightened at a train while passing Rowland the same afternoon and also ran away. Mr. O'Hair is badly hurt and will be laid up some time from it.
THE reporter to the dailies from Richmond is somewhat of a liar himself. He tells of a cyclone that visited the Doyleville section in Madison that lifted fences from creek bottoms to hillside and tore up large sycamore trees, landing many of them a great distance away, while hail stones as large as goose eggs fell, almost destroying the corn and other crops. Some of the fences were so large and fell with such force that they cut through oak board roofs.

HEN-HOUSE robbers have been unusually energetic in the Willow Grove neighborhood of late and they have without molestation succeeded wonderfully well in making the feathers fly. A marksman hereabout, who with a rifle killed two sparrows at 55 and 80 yards, respectively, according to reputable Stanford witnesses, will happen in that neighborhood one of these nights and by moonlight at the first pop will diminish the number of thieves materially.
LANCASTER is inhabited by one of the biggest and warmest hearted people on the globe and it has always been a subject of deep regret to us that it should have been left high and dry, away off on a side track. They do not seem to worry especially, however, over the situation, but look on the bright side and live in hope if they die in despair. An example of this is given in a remark to us by Capt. Wm. Herndon: "We expect to strike oil in boring the artesian well and by the first of the year enter the ranks of the 4th class cities, leaving Stanford in the cold." Did ever before such hopeless hope spring eternal in the human breast?
FIRE.—The meat house, granery and coal house of R. H. Bronaugh at Crab Orchard was burned by an incendiary at 3 o'clock Saturday morning, who was evidently mad because he was thwarted in his desire for meat, Mrs. Bronaugh having had most of it removed since hearing of the many stealings. The houses were substantial buildings and there were about 100 bushels of coal in them. Mr. Bronaugh was confined to his bed with a sprained ankle, but seeing the light and supposing it was his residence, leaped out to fall helpless. His tenants and neighbors came to his assistance and did all in their power to save the property, and to them Mr. Bronaugh is very grateful. The raids of the midnight marauders are getting bolder and more numerous and the good citizens will have to band themselves together for protection. Mr. Bronaugh offers $100 reward for the incendiaries in another column.

LIBERAL premiums and good accommodations at the Stanford Fair, July 19 and 20.
THE Crab Orchard opening hop will occur to night. Stanford will be liberally represented.
We want your trade. Anything and everything in the jewelry line can be found at Danks, the low-priced jeweler.
B. H. Danks, the jeweler, has on exhibition a gold and silver medal, designed and made by himself, which he will offer as a special prize to the bicyclers at the coming fair.
THE weather has been a little less torrid for a few days and Sunday night a nice little rain fell here, which did not extend very far. Predictions for thunder storms were made for last night and for fair, slightly warmer weather to-day.
THE opening hop at Linnietta was largely attended from here and other points, and Capt. Richards made everyone glad that he came. Nice refreshments were served and the dancing was protracted till a late hour.
AUNT HANNAH BALLENGER, a respected colored woman and a member of the large family of Givens', died Friday afternoon of rheumatism of the heart. She was a splendid cook and greatly sought after by house-keepers, who kept her busy making cake.

No man enjoys an occasional term as juror more than Dr. T. J. Bohon. He lives away back in the back part of the woods and being fond of mixing with the throng, he makes the most of his time swapping stories, we should say lies, with congenial spirits. Stanford people are always glad to see him.
ONE of the best and best acts of the court of appeals before adjourning was to affirm the sentences of Cope and Doonan, convicted after many efforts in Pulaski for killing an officer, who went to arrest them for disturbing a religious assembly, and they will have to serve the too short sentences given them.
THE Caledonian Literary Society was honored with a large audience at the court-house Saturday night and the orators, declaimers and others acquitted themselves handsomely. Both in his welcoming address and in his plea for intellect in the debate on the question, "Which has the Greatest Influence, Beauty or Intellect?" Jack Beazley proved himself equal to the occasion and won many compliments. The other speakers on his side were Logan Hughes and S. W. Menefee, while the side of beauty was upheld by Jim Beazley, W. S. Burch and W. H. Shanks, all of whom did well and showed the elevating and educating effect of membership in the society. The judges, Prof. J. M. Hubbard, Dr. L. B. Cook and W. H. Higgins, decided that the advocates of intellect had presented their side better and decided in their favor. The declamations of Aubrey Warren and Will Hocker were excellently given and the music by Berney Fish and J. A. Mudd was a pleasing feature. Mr. Thomas M. Owsley, editor of the Cyclone, read his editorials and personals, which both enjoyed and amused. We commend to his careful and prayerful perusal, however, the latter part of 2 Kings 2, that he be warned of the fate of the sport-makers, if the spirit de corps of the profession ran not deter him from trying the shibboleth of his wit against the beardless cheek of a younger editor. The entire program was greatly enjoyed and the society deserves congratulation. It will meet every two weeks at the same place.
A PLEASANT OCCASION.—Hon. W. H. Miller celebrated what he said was his 52d birthday Saturday, but as he gathered around his festal board men whose ages averaged 75 years, it is possible he was "boys together" with them when they trod the primrose path of dalliance three score years and more ago. He had invited 17 of the oldest of his friends in the county, but only nine responded, the others sending their regrets, naming various excuses, but we suspect they did not want to be caught in such an old crowd and have their ages given away. Mrs. Miller, with her accustomed capability in that line, had had prepared a sumptuous dinner of lamb, ham, chicken, vegetables, cake, ices, coffee, &c., and the table presented a tempting appearance as the old men ranged around it and began the onslaught, after Mr. J. R. Warren, the oldest, and who occupied the seat of honor, had asked the blessing. The good things were discussed with avidity, amid conversation which was as animated as if the participants were as young as they used to be. They seemed to enjoy the occasion thoroughly and left feeling even better towards old man Miller than the good will they had always entertained for him. The names and ages of the diners are: J. R. Warren, 90; Wm. M. Lackey, 78; R. B. Woods, 79; James Dudderar, 75; D. W. Vandever, 75; G. W. Bronaugh, 73; Wm. Burton, 72; John S. Bosley, 71, and Col. T. P. Hill, variously estimated at 65 to 83. Giving him the benefit of the doubt, however, and placing his age at 65, the years of the nine aggregate 678, an average of 75. All except two are democrats and all took "sugar" in their" but four. The other gentlemen invited were George H. McKinney, John Buchanan, J. M. Reid, J. A. Harris, Sam Dudderar, Sam Reid and J. M. Hall.

WE have it from good authority that Mrs. Eugenia Dunlap Potts, will get her galaxy of beauty for the July number of her Illustrated Kentuckian from that home of beautiful women, Hustonville. Now is the time to subscribe.
Circuit Court.—The damage suit of Gillispie vs. Bastin & Collier, for cutting timber from his land, on trial when our last report closed, resulted in a verdict for $500. A similar suit with Tim Ront as plaintiff and Tim Hardin as defendant, was called and the jury sworn, but discharged till this morning. The jury hung in the case of Henry Turner vs. Anderson Carr for wages, which the defendant claimed had been paid. The court was not in session Saturday.
At a school entertainment Rice Royalty struck little Cosby Green and his mother sued him for $500 damages. The case was tried yesterday with Hill & McRoberts for the boy and R. C. Warren for the defendant, and the result was a verdict for one cent.
DEATH'S DOINGS.

ARE EVIDENCE That the blood is wrong, and that nature is endeavoring to throw off the impurities. Nothing is so beneficial in assisting nature as Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) It is a simple vegetable compound. It is harmless to the most delicate child, yet it forces the poison to the surface and eliminates it from the blood.

A STORY.

As It Is Sometimes Told by Members of the Four Hundred.
At one of Miss Pinkerly's evenings. Young Tutter—And that reminds me of a story I heard the other day.
Miss Pinkerly—Oh, how perfectly charming! I always love to hear your stories, Mr. Tutter.
Tutter—This was about a bride and groom—
Miss Pinkerly—Won't you move your chair away from the door? I can hear you so much better. Every one is talking so.
Tutter—Certainly. Well, they were on their—
Miss Pinkerly—Here comes Miss Summit. Oh, Maud, I am so delighted to see you! I was so afraid you weren't coming. You know Mr. Tutter, I believe. He was just entertaining me with one of his most delightful stories. Pray go on, Mr. Tutter.

Tutter—Well, as I was saying—
Miss Pinkerly—I wonder if she knows Mr. Pinkerly. No, I know she doesn't. I must introduce them. Go on and return. Really, you must garden me, Mr. Tutter. Pray go on, please.
Tutter (gritting his teeth)—Oh, certainly. Well, they were on their honeymoon, and they came to—
Miss Pinkerly—Did you hear that, Mr. Tutter? That girl in the other room says that Charlie Singler is engaged. Well, I never thought he would be, and to Daisy Yellowgold too!

Tutter (politely)—Yes. It is rather funny that he is. I heard of it yesterday.
Miss Pinkerly (reproachfully)—And you never told me. I am surprised at you.
Tutter—To tell the truth I never thought of it.
Miss Pinkerly (still listening)—I'll forgive you this time. But your story. You mustn't forget that.

Tutter—Oh, my dear, see. Oh, yes. They came to a tunnel, and when the train got through it—
Girl in the Other Room—They say she has had her trousseau ready for six months. Just fancy!
Tutter—The groom turned to the bride and said, "If I had known that was such a long tunnel!"

Girl in the Other Room—Do you know what he said? He said he could have had any of us for the asking. Wasn't that nasty of him?
Tutter—"I would have kissed you." And she said—
Miss Pinkerly (in an undertone)—Well, I never. Go on, Mr. Tutter.
Tutter—And then she said, "Why didn't you kiss me, dear?" (A slight pause.)
Miss Pinkerly—Oh—yes. How awfully funny! And where did you say they were?—Truth.

"Her Eyes Fell."
—Life.
Fortunate.
"I shall not have the nerve to appear in public with you again," protested the maternal goat, "since those cruel boys cut off your whiskers."
The head of the family pondered in silence for several minutes.
"Dearest," he observed finally, "I have been thinking of the situation much and have concluded that in view of the unquestioned denouement of Populist assembly, this seeming affliction is a blessing in disguise."
Saying which he ate a circus poster with greater relish than he had evinced for food in three days.—Detroit Tribune.

Apparently All Hump.
The cyclist with an ambition to be mistaken for a racing man rode up to a wayside watering trough, steamed himself by putting one foot on it and called out to the farmer on the other side of the fence.
"Can you tell me how far it is to the next town?" he asked.
"I can't tell which way you're traveling," replied the farmer, "unless you raise your head so I can see where it's fastened on. I'm a little nearsighted."
—Chicago Tribune.

Accompanied by Signals.
"This," growled the wretched young father, shifting the wide awake baby to the other arm and making the turn at the northwest corner of the room for the four hundred and fifty-seventh time, "is one of the hardships that pass in the night!"—Exchange.

A Plea.
O funny men, does wit consist in lies?
set up like this?
Of stale old jokes on servant girls
Too fair for household bliss?
On honey moons that quickly wane,
Or love that mounts too high
On mercuries that follow it?
Shoppers who do not buy?
On fond papas awake at night
By hungry cherubs' shrieks?
On girls who tear each other's fame
And paint their fading cheeks,
Or say to men unheard of things
To show that they are bright?
On wives who run up endless bills,
Or husbands out at night?
On western girls' crass ignorance?
On girls whose love o'erflows?
On Jewish men with too long noses?
On tramps with lathered nether clothes
And most ill-sheveled hair?
On—worse of all—the legal ma
And son-in-law's despair?
O solution, you long ago
Found novelty a hoax.
Send down to earth, for public weal,
A man with brand new jokes!
—Hullo.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF STANFORD, KY.
Capital Stock.....$200,000
Surplus.....21,300

Attention of the public is invited to the fact that this is the only National Bank of Kentucky. Under the provisions of the National Bank Act deposits are secured not only by the capital stock, but by the stockholders' liability for an amount equal to the stock, so that depositors of this institution are secured by a fund of $200,000. Five sworn statements of the condition of the bank are made each year to the United States government and its assets are examined at stated times by government agents, thus securing additional and perfect safety to depositors.
This institution, originally established as the Deposit Bank of Stanford in 1855, then reorganized as the National Bank of Stanford in 1863 and again reorganized as the First National Bank of Stanford in 1868, has had practically an uninterrupted existence of 35 years. It is better supplied now with liquid assets for transacting business promptly and liberally than ever before in its long and honorable career. Accounts of corporations, fiduciaries, firms and individuals respectfully solicited.
The Directory of this Bank is composed of
